GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA, FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1903.

NO. 12

ALACHUA COUNTY HAS GONE DRY

A Glorious Victory Has Been Won By the Temperance People.

DRY MAJORITY VERY LARGE

The Larger Towns Act Nobly—How the Various Towns Voted Tuesday.

One of the greatest victories ever won in Florida by the temperance people was won at the polls throughout Alachua county last Tuesday, when a large majority of those voting said by their action, "we want no more of the legalized saloon in this good old county."

The advocates and opposers of the saloons worked faithfully, and from the first it was evident that the wet men were in the minority, but not until the vote was being counted did anyone ever dream that Gainesville would roll up a majority of 48 in favor of prohibition, but it did, and the men who voted right, and the Godly women who prayed all day for the success of the good cause are happy.

The following is the vote of the county by precincts as near as it can be come at without the official count, which will be announced by the county commissioners tomorrow:

Precinct.	Wet.	Dry.
Gainesville	147	195
Micanopy	6	54
Campville	6	15

Notes and Queries on the Election.

How many tickets have the railroads sold to men who are going to leave the county because it went dry?

Since the town went dry Royal Cook, says he don't care if he did sign that lease paper, for now he expects to be able to stay here, do a good business and be able to pay his rents.

Before the wet and dry election the saloon men claimed that the editor of THE STAR, Rev. Carpenter, Chris Matheson and Mrs. French and a few others were the only fanatics in the county. It seems now that the fanatics (?) outnumbered all others about two to one.

A Gainesville whiskey man said, after it was known that the county had gone dry, that he hoped it would not rain in five years. But lo! the rain came the next day not far from the city, and the next night in the city, and it bids fair to continue until crops are out of danger. The Lord was too busy receiving thanks from the temperance people to answer the saloon man's prayer.

She is Rejoicing.

Mrs. L. E. French of Windsor spent a few days in the city this week, having recently returned from Jacksonville and Tallahassee, where she went in the interest of her favorite work, that of temperance.

When the temperance fight, which resulted in such a glorious victory for the temperance people at the polls last Tuesday, first began in this county more than a year ago, Mrs. French was in the thickest and hottest of the fight. She was sent out by the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Gainesville, and canvassed the county and collected funds wherever she could to help prosecute the good work.

It is certain that no one worked more earnestly than she did for the success of the temperance forces, and she is rejoicing over our great success at the polls, Tuesday, and praying that equal success crown our efforts to see that the law against selling is obeyed.

Moody Determined.

From The Pathfinder, a Washington publication, is taken the following:

The Navy Department has been doing a large amount of repair work to naval vessels at Bremerton, Wash., but the town is such a nest of saloons and gambling resorts that Secretary Moody has given the people notice that unless these temptations to the sailors and workmen are gotten rid of he will send the work to yards where the surroundings are not so immoral.

Have you seen Gainesville's magnificent Gospel Tabernacle? Its seating capacity is said to be in excess of any other structure of its kind in the State. Gainesville should be proud of the Tabernacle.

THEY WERE HAPPY.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Entertain Co. A. of East Florida Seminary

The downiest heirs of Company A. of the East Florida Seminary young lady cadets were highly elated on Wednesday afternoon, May 27th, by the excellent entertainment given them by Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Davis. And the social as described by one of the members is as follows: "We assembled at the Academy building at 4 p. m., and the company 'fell in' and were marched by our captain, Miss Edith Baird, to the elegant residence of our host and hostess. Upon our arrival at the gate, we gave three hearty cheers for our kind friends, and were met at the door with a cordial welcome. After we had spent a time discussing our misfortune of Monday afternoon, we were invited into the dining room, which was exquisitely decorated from ceiling to floor in lavender and blue green—our company colors. Great taste was shown also in decoration of the tables, where in addition to the delicious refreshments, could also be seen the colors, very tastefully and profusely arranged.

"We did not tarry long admiring the decorations, but proceeded to enjoy the excellent repast which consisted of the best cream, cakes, candy, punch and things too numerous to mention, but the thing which took my eye, was the lavender and green candy.

"Before leaving the dining room we betook ourselves to the punch bowl and gave thanks to our host, hostess and captain, and then gave our company yells. Feeling much better than we had since Monday, before our competitive drill, we went to the lawn and spent nearly an hour in participating in popular pastimes. Then deciding that we would be compelled to leave in order to be present at the exercises of the night, we formed our line, and after giving three cheers for our host and hostess, and giving our company yells, we marched to the square, where we were dismissed, and started for our homes, feeling 'Oh, so happy'."

JONES-BURNETT.

Popular Young Couple Quietly United in Marriage Wednesday.

Wednesday there was a quiet home marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Burnett, this city.

The contracting parties were Mr. Arthur R. Jones, a popular young traveling man representing the Piepho Carriage Company of Cincinnati, and Miss Ethel Burnett, a popular and accomplished young lady of this city. Rev. T. P. Hay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church officiated, and the ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones departed in the afternoon for St. Augustine and other points, and will spend several weeks at those places.

THE STAR joins the many friends of the happy young couple in wishing for them a long, prosperous and happy life.

Florida Seminary.

The first "commencement" of the Florida Seminary located at Sutherland came to a close last Wednesday, and the reports are that the occasion was one of thrilling interest. This institution belongs to the Florida Annual Conference, and is co-educational; and although it is just one year old the success has been wonderful. The enrollment reached 227, and has made it necessary to enlarge the recitation rooms by next session.

The commencement exercises could not be easily surpassed, and the tests of practical work were most gratifying. The large number of visitors were surprised to see the advancement made in the literary and music departments, and they return to their homes with words of highest commendation. Most of all a religious atmosphere has surrounded the boys and girls and has culminated in the conversion of nearly all who were unconverted. The commencement sermon was preached by Rev. L. W. Moore, and the literary address was delivered by Judge Shackelford of the supreme bench.

Eighteen Years.

In the State of Maine last month it is said that a man was fined $425 and sent to prison for eighteen years for selling liquor in violation of the prohibition law.

Florida's laws at present will not permit such lengths of terms in prison for selling contrary to law, but we are coming to the point. All decent persons are against the blind tigers, and good men are going to stamp them out.

Gracy's Collar.

L. C. Gracy of High High Springs, than whom there is no better prohibitionist in the county, was in the city yesterday wearing a turned down collar wrong side up. Mr. Gracy said he thought it was but fair to change some fashions since the county has gone dry, but some of his friends say he is wearing his collar turned up so that he can catch the dew when things begin to get very dry.

All But One.

Our good friend Dr. Sibley says, from what he can learn every member of the medical fraternity in this city except one, voted dry last Tuesday, and that one would have cast a dry vote for every woman in the county if she could have done so legally.

$80,000 FOR THE E. F. SEMINARY

Florida State College and Deaf and Dumb Institute $80,000 Each.

THESE SCHOOLS FORTUNATE

The University of Florida $60,000. the S. F. M. Institute $40,000 and Others.

The agony is over. Notwithstanding the bitter opposition led by Gilchrist of DeSoto and Strozier of Marion the Legislature has done well in providing for the needs of State Schools. The House has appropriated as follows:

East Florida Seminary $80,000; Florida State College $80,000; Deaf and Dumb Institute $80,000; University of Florida $60,000; South Florida Military Institute $40,000; DePaul Normal Institute $50,000; St. Petersburg Industrial School $25,000. This means the enlargement of the sphere of usefulness of East Florida Seminary, the best and greatest of Florida's institutions of learning, and the friends of the East Florida Seminary owe a debt of gratitude to Senators McCreary and Adams and to Representatives Rivers, Willard, McNames, Abrams and Watson for the magnificent fight they made in the interest of higher education in general and the East Florida Seminary particularly.

The four thousand alumni of E. F. S. will not forget these gentlemen nor will the names of Gilchrist and Strozier soon fade from their memories. We make our bow to the new and greater E. F. S.

The J. J. Findley Chapter.

The first regular business meeting of the J. J. Findley Chapter, U. D. C. was held yesterday at the residence of Mrs. G. K. Broome. The most important business for transaction at this time was the appointment of the various committees. The following were the committees appointed:

Credential Committee—Mrs. J. W. Tench, Mrs. J. D. Stringfellow, Mrs. W. P. Lee, Mrs. J. E. Waugh and Mrs. J. A. Goodwin.

On Constitution and By-Laws—Mrs. G. K. Broome, Mrs. A. R. Harper and Mrs. W. B. Taylor.

Historical Committee—Mrs. A. R. Harper, Mrs. E. P. Crane and Miss Nora Semmes.

The Chapter pledged itself to contribute $30 annually for the Soldiers Home, Gainesville.

Picnic at Burnett's Pond.

The four Sunday schools of the city—Baptist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist, enjoyed a Sunday school picnic at Burnett's Pond Wednesday.

A special train of eight coaches left the A. C. L. Depot at 8 a. m., and returned about 6 p. m. Those who attended say they had a real nice time, though they got a good sprinkling just before the returning hour, the Baptist and Methodist alike being "under the cloud" and getting the "sprinkle."

It was a union picnic participated in by the four schools named, and each school was well represented and the participants enjoyed the outing.

Pinkoson Honored.

The members of Hose Company No. 1 has presented Marshal Chas. Pinkoson with a beautiful gold badge properly engraved, a pair of new hand cuffs and club.

The club was made and polished by Foreman N. E. Benson, who also made the presentation speech. The gifts were to show the company's high esteem for Mr. Pinkoson as a fellow member of the company, and as an efficient marshal.

Well Officered.

A gentleman who has been in Gainesville much of late, recently said: "I know of no other town in the state that I consider as well officered as Gainesville now is. Good mayor, good marshal, good policeman, and efficient councilmen and other officials. Gainesville people can well afford to be proud of her officials."

Passed Away.

After several weeks of patient suffering from malarial fever, Mrs. W. H. Carter passed away at her home in this city Tuesday.

The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Ichetunnee church, in Columbia county, Wednesday. Mrs. J. F. Bunch and others from here attended the funeral.

She Read the Signal.

There is a romantic story about Lord Kelvin's second marriage. In the early seventies he, then Sir William Thomson, was in West Indian waters, on board his schooner yacht, the Lalla Rookh. As a recreation he took up the question of simplifying the method of signals at sea. He had been talking of it at the dinner table of a friend in Madeira, and the only apprehension that seemed able to grasp it was that of his host's daughter, a lady he greatly but silently admired.

"I quite understand it, Sir William," she said.

"Are you sure?" he questioned, half doubtfully. "If I sent you a signal from my yacht, do you think you could read it and could answer me?"

"Well, I would try," she responded. "I believe I should succeed in making it out."

The signal was sent, and she did succeed in making it out and in transmitting the reply. The question was, "Will you marry me?" and the answer was, "Yes."

A Homely Greeting.

According to Ainslie's Magazine, when the governor of Newfoundland, Sir Henry McCallum, K. C. M. G., went ashore at a small harbor of the east coast he was met at the landing place by a grizzled old fisherman, who sought to make the stranger welcome, whoever he might be.

"Be you comin' ashore, sir?" he asked.

"Yes," said the governor.

"Be you here about the fish (sea oil)?" the fisherman pursued.

"No," said the governor.

"Be you one of 'Sam' Lewis' men from Red Bay, sir, come about the timber?"

"I am the governor of Newfoundland," Sir Henry announced, with some show of dignity.

"Be you, now?" said the fisherman, with a friendly offer of his hand.

"Well, 'tis a mighty good job—if you can hold it. Ah! I hope you will. Would you like a cup of tea, sir?"

The Rose.

At all times the rose has enjoyed peculiar favor as a sacred flower. Mohammedan tradition says that when Saladin captured Jerusalem he refused to enter the shrine of the temple which had been converted into a church by the Crusaders till the walls had been thoroughly cleansed and purified with rosewater. A similar story is told of the Church of St. Sophia, at Constantinople, when transformed from a Christian place of worship to a Mohammedan mosque. The origin of the rose, according to Moslem tradition, is that the blood of the prophet sprang into new life in this glorious crimson flower.

To this day when a Turk sees a rose lying on the ground he will raise it tenderly, kiss it reverently and deposit the frail blossom in some place of safety.

Baby's Name.

"But why did you name your baby after his most disputable ancestor?" the surprised friend asked the proud young mother.

"Well, you see I expect him to improve on the former bearer of the name. Indeed, he hardly can help it, because the ancestor was so very bad. If I had named him after the most distinguished member of the family, he might not have lived up to the name. Babies hardly ever do when they are named for great personages as I have often noticed."—New York Press.

His Men Were Appointed.

As an instance of the astuteness of Al Daggett, the former Republican leader of Kings county, N. Y., the story is told that when Seth Low was elected mayor of Brooklyn some years ago he wrote to Mr. Daggett offering to appoint as commissioner of elections one of any three men he might name. Al wrote three lines to the mayor, as follows: "Charles Henry Cotton, C. H. Cotton, C. Henry Cotton." Needless to say Mr. Cotton was appointed.

Her Pet Fad.

Mrs. Jones—Mrs. Robinson is the greatest woman to stick to a fad I ever saw.

Mrs. Brown—Why, I never heard anybody mention that before.

Mrs. Jones—Can't help that. It's so, all the same. Just see how she has gone on admiring that husband of hers these twenty years and more.—Boston Transcript.

Capt. and Mrs. L. E. Barker have returned from Atlanta, where the former had been for some time receiving treatment at the hands of a specialist. The many friends of Capt. Barker are glad to see him looking fairly strong again, hope that he may soon be in possession of his former good health.

When Sheriff Fennell saw that Melrose had voted unanimously for prohibition—there not being a single wet vote cast in that precinct—and that Micanopy had given about 7 to 1 in favor of prohibition, he said: "Melrose and Micanopy beats them all; hurrah for Melrose and Micanopy; I was raised at Melrose and got my wife at Micanopy."
